

Sustain alliance membership application form

Sustain is an alliance and membership is open to national public-interest organisations that do not distribute profits to private shareholders and whose governance ensures that the organisation operates solely in the public interest. Member organisations must be wholly or partly involved in healthy, fair and sustainable food and/or farming and/or fishing and/or supply chain issues and support the general aims and work of the alliance (www.sustainweb.org) and the objectives set out in Fertile Future: the alliance strategy for 2021-25.

To apply for membership of Sustain: The alliance for better food and farming, talk to one of Sustain's senior leadership team (contact below), and/or return this form attaching your latest annual report and accounts. Organisations that are not formally constituted, or which have been established for less than a year, would not usually join the Sustain alliance, but would be welcome to participate in activities where relevant.

Acceptance of applications is not automatic. Applications are considered and approved by the Sustain Council of Trustees, elected from the Sustain alliance membership, which meet quarterly. Sustain members then have the opportunity to endorse or raise an objection to acceptance of membership applications. As part of this process, we may come back to you for further information or clarification. This process is important to ensure that the ethos of the Sustain alliance is maintained and enhanced, and decisions are accountable to Sustain members and to the alliance's social, environmental and charitable objectives.

To discuss your application or ask any questions, please contact Sustain's Deputy Chief Executive Ben Reynolds. Submit completed application forms to (ben@sustainweb.org).

Whether or not you become a Sustain alliance member, do consider joining us for our meetings and events, and for our Annual Conference, which usually features topical talks and lively debates. Your organisation may also be interested in joining an advisory working party, supporting our alliance's campaigns and projects, and signing up to one or more newsletter. Details are at: www.sustainweb.org/get-involved/
