

Barriers to improving access to fresh fruit and vegetables through local retail provision

Scenario A

A group of residents on a housing estate in the North East of England are concerned about the lack of options for fresh fruit and vegetable access.

The nearest supermarket is 5 miles or 7 bus stops away which costs £1.80 by bus or £5.00 by taxi. The bus runs once every hour until 5.00PM and then once every 2 hours.

The local shops consist of:

- Tanning Salon/Hairdressers
- Bookmakers (betting Shop)
- Sandwich shop
- General Dealers/Post Office (stocks limited tinned produce. Space an issue in shop)
- Off License
- Chippie
- Chinese Takeaway
- Community Housing Office
- 1 boarded up empty premises

The estate also has a community centre/youth club and park. All of which are well used but in need of updating. CCTV cameras are prevalent and a local community police officer has a surgery at the community centre twice a week. The Residents association have done a survey recently and found that there are some concerns locally about

- groups of young people hanging around the shops
- instances of vandalism to the vacant shop unit
- young people are buying alcohol and cigarettes under age
- some of the older people don't like using the local shops because they are uncomfortable walking there alone
- Young people from the estate think that people have a bad image of them.
